CONSTITUTION

OF THE

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of the State of North Carolina, grateful to Almighty God, the Sovereign Ruler of nations, for the preservation of the American Union, and the existence of our civil, political and religious liberties, and acknowledging our dependence upon Him for the continuance of those blessings to us and our posterity, do, for the more certain security thereof, and for the better government of this State, ordain and establish this Constitution :

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

That the great, general and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and established, and that the relations of this State to the Union and Government of the United States, and those of the people of this State to the rest of the American people, may be defined and affirmed, we do declare :

SECTION 1. That we hold it to be self-evident that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, the enjoyment of the fruits of their own labor, and the pursuit of happiness.

The equality and rights of men.

SEC. 2. That all political power is vested in, and derived from, the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.

Political power and government.

SEC. 3. That the people of this State have the inherent, sole and exclusive right of regulating the internal government and police thereof, and of altering and abolishing their constitution and form of government whenever it may be necessary for their safety and happiness; but every such right should be exercised in pursuance of law, and consistently with the Constitution of the United States.

Internal government of the State.

That there is no right to secede.

SEC. 4. That this State shall ever remain a member of the American Union; that the people thereof are a part of the American Nation; that there is no right on the part of the State to secede, and that all attempts, from whatever source or upon whatever pretext, to dissolve said Union, or to sever said Nation, ought to be resisted with the whole power of the State.

Of allegiance to the U. S. government.

SEC. 5. That every citizen of this State owes paramount allegiance to the Constitution and Government of the United States, and that no law or ordinance of the State in contravention or subversion thereof can have any binding force.

Public debt.

SEC. 6. The State shall never assume or pay, or authorize the collection of any debt or obligation, express or implied, incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; nor shall the General Assembly assume or pay, or authorize the collection of any tax to pay, either directly or indirectly, expressed or implied, any debt or bond incurred, or issued, by authority of the Convention of the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, nor any debt or bond, incurred or issued by the Legislature of the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, either at its special session of the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, or at its regular sessions of the years one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight and one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine and one thousand eight hundred and seventy, except the bonds issued to fund the interest on the old debt of the State, unless the proposing to pay the same shall have first been submitted to the people and by them ratified by the vote of a majority of all the qualified voters of the State, at a regular election held for that purpose.

Exception.

SEC. 12. No person shall be put to answer any criminal charge, except as hereinafter allowed, but by indictment, presentment or impeachment. Answers to criminal charges.

Ex post facto laws.

SEC. 32. Retrospective laws, punishing acts committed before the existence of such laws, and by them only declared criminal, are oppressive, unjust and incompatible with liberty; wherefore no ex post facto law ought to be made. A resolution of thanks to our senators and representatives in congress for their efforts to defeat the "Federal Election Law" or "Force Bill."

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring : Efforts of Senators and representatives in Congress to defeat "Force Bill" approved.

SECTION 1. That we applaud the patriotic efforts of our United States senators and representatives in congress to secure the defeat of the bill now pending in the congress of the United States and known as "The Federal Election Law" or "Force Bill." That the South has passed through a period during which the antagonism of the races and the suspicions engendered in the minds of the colored people by designing, unprincipled and unpatriotic men placed in jeopardy the stability of society and the lives and property of the people, but now happily that period has passed and comparative contentment, confidence and repose have been established in all parts of the southern states. This has been accompanied by an improvement in the material condition of both races, by the establishment of schools and the education of the people, by the opening of mines, the building of factories, the construction of railroads, and generally by an immense development of the moral, intellectual and material resources of a dozen states peopled by millions of citizens and forming a vast empire, claiming the fostering care of our national legislature. In this advancing prosperity northern and foreign capital has had its share and has largely contributed, northern citizens having sought among us profitable investment for their surplus means and have invested hundreds of millions in our industrial enterprises, to say nothing of the obligations arising from the business dealings between the different sections of our common country. We cannot contemplate the disturbance of these relations in business, prosperous and promising yet greater developments, and as to the sections, fraternal and tending to promote broad patriotism, without great concern as citizens, and particularly as residents of that section whose best interests are threatened by the measure in question.

SEC. 2. That the secretary of state furnish copies of these resolutions to our senators and representatives at as early a date as possible.

Ratified the 3d day of February, A. D. 1891.
