CHAPTER 666.

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE ENLARGEMENT OF DRAINAGE DISTRICTS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Enlargement of drainage districts.

SECTION 1. That any drainage district heretofore or which may hereafter be established under the general drainage laws of North Carolina (chapter four hundred and forty-two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nine, and acts supplemental to and amendatory thereof) may be enlarged so as to include territory adjacent thereto in the manner following:

Jurisdiction of clerk of superior court.

The clerk of the Superior Court of any county in the State of North Carolina shall have the same jurisdiction, power, and authority to enlarge levee or drainage districts as he now has to establish levee or drainage districts, and to do every act or thing in the enlarging of established drainage districts which he can do in establishing a levee or drainage district, and it is hereby declared that the enlargement of the districts established for the drainage of swamps and the drainage of the surface water from agricultural lands and the reclamation of tidal marshes shall be considered a public benefit and conducive to the public health, convenience, utility, and welfare.

Public benefit.

Petition for enlargement.

SEC. 2. Whenever a petition signed by the owner of a tract of land adjacent to an established levee or drainage district and susceptible of drainage through the instrumentalities provided for the drainage of such established levee or drainage district, or by a majority of the resident landowners owning lands adjacent to an established levee or drainage district, or by the owners of three-fifths of all the land which will be affected by or assessed for the expense of the proposed improvements incident to said land being added to an established levee or drainage district and susceptible of drainage through the instrumentalities provided for the drainage of such established levee or drainage district, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of Superior Court of any county in which a part of said lands are located, setting forth that any specific body, tract, or district of land in the county or adjoining counties, described in such a way as to convey an intelligent idea as to the location of such land with reference to an established levee or drainage district to which it is adjacent, is subject to overflow or too wet for cultivation, and the public benefit or utility or the public health, convenience, or welfare will be promoted by drainage, ditching, or leveeing the same, and that this end can be best accomplished by enlarging the boundaries of an established levee or drainage district to which said land is adjacent, and setting forth therein, as far as is practicable, the starting point, route, and terminus and lateral branches, if necessary, of the proposed improvement with reference to the established drainage or levee district to which the land is sought to be attached, and there is filed therewith a bond for the amount of fifty dollars per mile for each mile of the ditch or proposed improvement, signed by two or more sureties or by some surety company authorized to do business in North Carolina, to be approved by the clerk of the Superior Court and conditioned for the payment of all costs and expenses incurred in the proceedings in case the court does not grant the prayer of the petition, the said clerk shall issue a summons to be served on all the defendant landowners who have not joined in the petition, if there be any such, and whose lands are included in the lands sought to be added to an established levee or drainage district. Upon the return day the said clerk shall appoint a disinterested and competent civil and drainage engineer and two resident freeholders of the county or counties in which said lands are located, as a board of viewers to examine the lands described in the petition and make a preliminary report thereon. Such drainage engineer shall be appointed upon the recommendation of the State Geologist, and the compensation for the services of such engineer and his necessary assistants, to be fixed as herein provided, shall be paid as herein provided. Where the lands proposed to be drained by being added to or included in a levee or drainage district already established are located in two or more counties, the clerk of the Superior Court in whose court the existing drainage district was established shall have and exercise the jurisdiction herein conferred, and the venue shall be in said county. The laws and rules regulating special proceedings shall be applicable to this act so far as may be practicable. The summons may be served by publication as to any defendants who cannot be personally served as provided by law. If at the time of the filing of the petition, or at any time subsequent thereto, it shall be made to appear to the court by affidavit or otherwise that the owner or owners of the whole or any share of any tract or tracts of land whose names are unknown and cannot after due diligence be ascertained by the petitioners, the court shall order a notice in the nature of a summons to be given to all such persons by a publication of the petition, or of the substance thereof, and describing generally the tract or tracts of land as to which the

- owner or owners are unknown, with the order of the court thereon, in some newspaper published in the county wherein the land is wholly or partially situated, or in some other county, if no newspaper is published in the county where said land is wholly or partially situated, which newspaper or newspapers shall be designated in the order of the court, and a copy of such publication shall also be posted in at least three conspicuous places within the boundaries of the tract or tracts of land or district proposed to be added to an established levee or drainage district, and at the courthouse door of the county where the petition and proceedings are pending. Such publication in a newspaper and by posting shall be made for a period of four weeks, and one publication a week in a newspaper for four weeks shall be a sufficient newspaper publication. After the time of publication shall have expired, if no person claiming and asserting title to the tract or tracts of land and entitled to notice shall appear, the court in its discretion may appoint some disinterested person to represent the unknown owner or owners of said lands, and thereupon the court shall assume jurisdiction of the said tract or tracts of land and shall adjudicate as to the said lands to the same extent as if the true owners were present and represented, and shall proceed against the land itself. If at any time during the pending of the drainage proceeding the true owner or owners of the lands shall appear in person, they may be made parties defendant of their own motion and without the necessity of personal service, and shall thereafter be considered as parties to the proceeding, but they shall have no right to except to or appeal from any order or judgment theretofore rendered, as to which the time for filing exceptions on notice shall have expired.
- SEC. 3. The board of viewers shall proceed to examine the land described in said petition, and other land if necessary, to locate properly the improvement or improvements petitioned for, along the route described in the petition, or any other route answering the same purpose if found more practicable or feasible, and may make surveys such as may be necessary to determine the area sought to be added to an established levee or drainage district, and the elevation of the several parts of the said area, and shall make and return to the clerk of the Superior Court within thirty days, unless the time shall be extended by the court, a written report, which shall set forth:
1. Whether the proposed drainage is practicable or not.
 2. Whether it will benefit the public health, or any public highway, or be conducive to the general welfare of the community.
 3. Whether the improvement proposed will benefit the lands sought to be benefited.
 4. Whether or not all the lands that are benefited are included in the proposed enlargement of an established levee or drainage district.
- Appointment of representative.
- Procedure against land.
- Appearance of owners.
- Examination of land.
- Report.
- Practicability.
- General benefits.
- Special benefits.
- Location of lands.

5. Whether the most practicable way to drain the land sought to be drained will be accomplished by adding the same to an established adjacent levee or drainage district. Best method.

6. Whether the land proposed to be added to an established levee or drainage district can be so added without overtaxing the present capacity of any drainage canal, ditch, or ditches, levee or levees of said established drainage or levee district, and, if so, which ones, and what changes, improvements, or enlargements, if any, are necessary because of enlarging said established levee or drainage district, and the estimated cost of any such. They shall also file with this report a map of the area proposed to be added to the established levee or drainage district, showing the location of the ditch or ditches or other improvements to be constructed and the lands that will be affected thereby, and what changes, if any, in the general drainage schemes of the established levee or drainage district will be necessary, and such information as they may have collected which will tend to show the correctness of their findings. Estimates. Map.

SEC. 4. The clerk of the Superior Court shall consider this report. If the viewers report that the drainage asked for is not practicable, or, if practicable, cannot be accomplished by adding to the established levee or drainage district the area sought to be so added, or that it will not benefit the public health or any public highway, or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall approve such findings, the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners. Such petition or proceedings may again be instituted by the same or additional land-owners at any time after six months upon proper allegations that conditions have changed or that material facts were omitted or overlooked. If the viewers report that the drainage asked for is practicable and can be accomplished by adding to the established levee or drainage district the area sought to be so added, and that it will benefit the public health or any public highway, or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall so find, then the court shall fix a day when the report will be further heard and considered. Consideration of report. Findings for dismissal of petition. Renewal of petition. Findings for further hearings. Day for hearing.

SEC. 5. If the petition is entertained by the court, notice shall be given by publication once a week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the county or counties in which the land viewed by the board of viewers is situated, if one be published in such counties, and also by posting notices at the courthouse door of the county where the petition or proceeding is pending and at five conspicuous places within the drainage or levee district as it is proposed to be enlarged, that on a day named the court will consider and pass upon the report of the board of viewers. At least fifteen days shall intervene between the date of publication and posting of notices and the date set for the hearing. Advertisement of hearing.

Hearing on report.	SEC. 6. At the date appointed for the hearing the court shall hear and determine any objections that may be offered to the report of the viewers. If it appears that there is any land within the area proposed to be added to an established levee or drainage district that will not be affected by the leveeing or drainage thereof, such land shall be excluded and the names of the owners withdrawn from such proceeding; and if it shall be shown that there is any land not within the area proposed to be added to an established levee or drainage district which ought to be so included, the boundary of the established levee or drainage district shall be so changed as to include such land, and such additional land-owners shall be made parties plaintiff or defendant, respectively, and summons shall issue accordingly as herein provided. After such change in the boundary is made, the sufficiency of the petition shall be verified, to determine whether or not it conforms to the requirements of the statute, as provided in section two hereof.
Land excluded.
Land included and owners made parties.
Verification of petition.
Reference of amended petition.	The matter of improvements in the area added to an established levee or drainage district, and what changes, if any, in the general scheme of the established levee or drainage district, and the efficiency thereof, may also be determined and changes may be made, and, if necessary, the petition as amended may be referred by the court to the engineer and board of viewers for further report. The above facts having been determined to the satisfaction of the court, and the boundaries of the levee or drainage district as enlarged, determined, it shall declare the boundaries of said district to be so enlarged. If any lands shall be excluded from the area added to the established levee or drainage district because of the court having found that such lands will not be affected or benefited, and the names of the owners of such lands have been withdrawn from such proceeding, but such lands are so situated as necessarily to be located within the outer boundaries of said district as enlarged, such fact shall not prevent the enlargement of the district, and said lands shall not be assessed for any drainage tax; but this shall not prevent the district from acquiring a right of way across such lands for constructing a canal or ditch or for any other necessary purpose authorized by law.
Order enlarging district.
Lands not assessed for drainage.
Rights of way.
Condemnation for rights of way.	SEC. 7. If it shall be necessary to acquire a right of way or an outlet over and through lands not affected by the drainage, and the same cannot be acquired by purchase, or in case of disagreement as to price to be paid for a right of way, then and in that event the right of eminent domain is hereby conferred, and the same may be condemned in the manner provided in section seven of chapter four hundred and forty-two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nine.
Procedure for condemnation.
Right of appeal.	SEC. 8. Any person or corporation owning lands within the area thus added to an established levee or drainage district which he or it thinks will not be benefited by the improvement and should not be included in the district, or the commissioners of the district which it is proposed to enlarge, if they consider the enlargement a detriment to the district, may appeal from the decision of the court to the Superior Court of such county, in term-time, by filing an appeal, accompanied by a bond conditioned for the payment of the costs if the appeal should be decided against him, for such sum as the court may require, not exceeding two hundred dollars, signed by two or more solvent sureties or in some approved surety company to be approved by the court. Bond on appeal.

SEC. 9. After the district is enlarged the court shall refer the report of the engineer and viewers back to them to make a complete survey, plans and specifications for the drains or levees or other improvements necessitated by the enlargement of the district, and fix a time when said engineer and viewers shall complete and file their report, not exceeding sixty days. Reference of report for completion.

SEC. 10. The engineer and viewers shall have power to employ such assistants as may be necessary to make a complete survey of the area to be added to said drainage district, and shall enter upon the ground, make a survey of the main drain or drains and all its laterals, and their connection or connections with the drain, drains, levee or levees of the already established district. The line of each drain, ditch, or levee shall be plainly and substantially marked on the ground. The course and distance of each ditch shall be carefully noted and sufficient notes made, so that it may be accurately platted and mapped. A line of levels shall be run for the entire work in the added area and sufficient data secured from which accurate profiles and plans may be made. Frequent bench marks shall be established along the line, on permanent objects, and their elevation recorded in the field books. If deemed expedient by the engineer and viewers, other levels may be run to determine the fall from one part of the entire district as enlarged to another. If an old water-course, ditch, or channel is being widened, deepened, or straightened, it shall be accurately cross-sectioned, so as to compute the amount of cubic yards saved by the use of such old channel. A drainage map of the district to be enlarged shall then be completed, showing the improvements to be made in the added area, the location of the ditch or ditches and other improvements, and the old and present boundaries, as closely as may be made from the map of the district as at first established and by the records of the lands owned by each individual landowner within the area added. The location of any railroads or public highways and the boundary of any incorporated towns or villages within the district shall be shown on the map. There shall also be prepared to accompany this map a profile of each levee or drain or water-course in the added area, showing the surface of the ground, the bottom or grade of the proposed improvement, and the number of cubic yards of excavation or fill in each mile or fraction thereof, and showing also in detail what each levee, drain, or water-course in the district as first estab- Employment of assistants and entry on land.

Assessment and payment of damages.	SEC. 11. If damage be claimed by any person or corporation for land taken or for inconvenience imposed because of the construction or improvement, or for any other legal damage sustained, such claims for damages shall be assessed and adjusted and paid in the manner prescribed in section eleven of chapter four hundred and forty-two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nine and amendments thereto.
Classification of lands.	SEC. 12. The lands added to an established drainage district under the provisions of this chapter shall be classified according to benefits as provided by section twelve of chapter four hundred and forty-two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nine, and amendments thereto.
Account and report of costs.	SEC. 13. The engineer and viewers shall keep an accurate account of cost of survey and expenses, and report same to the court in manner provided by section fifteen of chapter four hundred and forty-two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nine, and amendments thereto.
Time for completion of work.	SEC. 14. Should the work of the engineer and viewers be unavoidably delayed, the engineer and viewers shall appear before the court and state in writing the cause of such failure and ask for sufficient time in which to complete the work, and the court shall set another date by which the work shall be completed, and report made and filed.
Examination and order on final report.	SEC. 15. When the final report is completed and filed, it shall be examined by the court, and if found to be in due form and in accordance with law, it shall be accepted, and if not in due form, it may be referred back to the engineer and viewers, with instructions to secure further information to be reported at a subsequent date to be fixed by the court. When the report is fully completed and accepted by the court, a date not less than twenty days there, after shall be fixed by the court for the final hearing upon the report, and notice thereof shall be given by publication in a newspaper published in the county, if any, and by posting notices on the courthouse door and at five conspicuous places throughout the district as enlarged, such publication to be made at least two weeks before the final hearing. During this time a copy of the report shall be on file in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court and shall be open to the inspection of any landowner or other person interested within the district as enlarged.
Date for final hearing.	SEC. 16. At the date set for hearing, any landowner may appear in person or by counsel and file his objection in writing to the report of the viewers, and it shall be the duty of the court to care- fully review the report of the viewers and the objections filed thereto and make such changes as are necessary to render substantial and equal justice to all the landowners in the district. If in the opinion of the court the cost of construction, together with the amount of damages assessed, is not greater than the benefits which will accrue to the lands affected, the court shall confirm the report of the viewers. If, however, the court finds that the cost of construction, together with the damages assessed, is greater than the resulting benefit that will accrue to the lands affected, the court shall dismiss the proceedings at the cost of the petitioners, and the sureties upon the bond so filed by them shall be liable for such costs. The court may from time to time collect from the petitioners such amounts as may be necessary to pay costs accruing.

SEC. 18. The clerk of the Superior Court shall transcribe in the drainage record book every petition, motion, order, report, judgment, or finding of the board in every proceeding to enlarge an established levee or drainage district that may come before the court in such a manner as to make a complete and continuous record of the case. Copies of all the maps and profiles are to be furnished by the engineer and marked by the clerk "Official Copies," which shall be kept on file by him in his office, and one other copy shall be posted or otherwise attached to his drainage record.

SEC. 19. After the said drainage district has been enlarged as aforesaid, and the survey and plan therefor approved, the area added to said established levee or drainage district shall immediately be under the control and management of the board of drainage commissioners of the said established levee or drainage district, and such officers and employees of the said board of drainage commissioners as are authorized by law. The board of drainage commissioners shall, as to the area thus added to an established levee or drainage district, be vested with all the powers contained in and perform all duties enjoined upon them by section twenty of chapter four hundred and forty-two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nine; section twenty-one of chapter four hundred and forty-two of Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and nine, as amended by section four, chapter sixty-seven of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and eleven; sections twenty-two, twenty-three, and twenty-four of Ascertainment of cost.

SEC. 20. After the classification of lands and the ratio of assessments of the different classes to be made thereon of the area thus added to an established levee or drainage district has been confirmed by the court, the board of drainage commissioners shall ascertain the total cost of the improvement, including damages awarded to be paid to owners of land, all costs and incidental expenses and also including an amount sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of maintaining the improvement for a period of three years after the completion of the work of construction, after deducting therefrom any special assessments made against any railroad or highway, and thereupon the board of drainage commissioners, under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the board, shall certify to the clerk of the Superior Court the said total cost ascertained as aforesaid; and the said certificate shall be forthwith recorded in the drainage record and open to inspection to any landowner in the district.

Assessment rolls.

SEC. 21. The board of drainage commissioners shall immediately prepare in duplicate the assessment rolls, or drainage tax lists, covering only the lands in the area added to the established levee or drainage district, giving therein the names of the owners of the land in said area, so far as can be ascertained from the public records, a brief description of the several tracts assessed, and the amount of the assessment against each tract of land. The first of these assessment rolls shall provide assessment sufficient for the payment of interest on the bond issue to accrue the third year after their issue, and the installment of principal to fall due at the expiration of the third year after the date of issue, together with such amounts as shall have to be paid for collection and handling of the same. The second assessment roll shall make like provision for the fourth year; the third for the fifth year; the fourth for the sixth year; the fifth for the seventh year; the sixth for the eighth year; the seventh for the ninth year; the eighth for the tenth year; the ninth for the eleventh year; the tenth for the twelfth year. Each of said assessment rolls shall specify the time when collectible and be numbered in their order, and the amounts assessed against the several tracts of land shall be in accordance with the benefits received, as shown by the classification and ratio of assessments made by the viewers. These assessment rolls shall be signed by the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners and by the secretary of said board. One copy of each of said assessment rolls shall be filed with the drainage record and one copy shall be delivered to the sheriff, or other county tax collector, after the clerk of the Superior Court has appended thereto an order directing the collection of said assessments, and the said assessments shall thereupon have the force and effect of a judgment as in the case of State and county taxes. These assessments shall constitute a first and paramount lien upon the lands in the area added to an established levee or drainage district, second only to State and county taxes, upon the lands in the area added to an established levee or drainage district assessed for the payment of said bonds and interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner, by the same officers, as the State and county taxes are collected. The said assessments shall be due and payable on the first Monday in September each year, and if the same shall not be paid in full by the thirty-first day of December following, it shall be the duty of the sheriff or tax collector to sell the land or lands so delinquent. The sale of lands for failure to pay such assessments shall be made at the courthouse door of the county in which the lands are situated, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon of the first Monday in February each year; and if for any necessary cause the sale cannot be made on that date, the sale may be continued from day to day for not exceeding four days, or the lands may be readvertised and sold on the first Monday in March succeeding, during the same hours, without any order therefor. In all other respects, except as to time of sale of lands, the existing law as to the collection of State and county taxes shall have application to the collection of drainage assessments under this act. It shall be the duty of the sheriff or tax collector to pay over to the county treasurer promptly the moneys so collected by him upon said tax assessments, to the end that the said treasurer may have funds in hand to meet the payments of interest and principal due upon the outstanding bonds as they mature. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, and without any previous order from the board of drainage commissioners, to provide and pay the installments of interest at the time and place as evidenced by the coupons attached to said bonds, and also to pay the annual installments of the principal due on said bonds at the time and place as evidenced by said bonds, and the said county treasurer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject, upon conviction, to a fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, if he shall willfully fail to make prompt payments of the said interest and principal upon said bonds, and shall likewise be liable in a civil action

SEC. 22. If the total cost of the improvement is less than an average of one dollar per acre on all the lands in the area added to an established levee or drainage district, the board of drainage commissioners shall forthwith assess the lands in the area so added to an established drainage district therefor, in accordance with their classification, and said assessment shall be collected in one installment, by the same officer and in the same manner as State and county taxes are collected, and payable at the same time. In case the total cost exceeds an average of one dollar per acre on all lands in the area so added to an established levee or drainage district, the board of drainage commissioners shall give notice for three weeks by publication in some newspaper in a county in which the district or some part thereof is situated, if there be any such newspaper, and also by posting a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places in the district, reciting that they propose to issue bonds for the payment of the total cost of the improvement, giving the amount of bonds to be issued, the rate of interest they are to bear, and the time when payable.

Any landowner in the district not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may, within fifteen days after the publication of said notice, pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, to be ascertained from the classification sheet and the certificate of the board showing the total cost of the improvement, and have his lands released from liability to be assessed for the said improvement, but such land shall continue liable for any future assessment for maintenance or for any increased assessment authorized under this law.

SEC. 24. At the expiration of fifteen days after publication of notice of bond issue, the board of drainage commissioners may issue bonds specifying therein that assessments for the payment thereof shall only be levied or made on the lands in the area added to said established drainage district for an amount equal to the total cost of the improvement made in consequence of said district being enlarged, less such amounts as shall have been paid in in cash to the county treasurer, plus an amount sufficient to pay interest on the bond issue for the three years next following the date of issue. These bonds shall bear six per cent interest per annum, payable semiannually, and shall be paid in ten equal installments. The first installment of principal shall mature at the expiration of three years from the date of issue, and one installment for each succeeding year for nine additional years. The commissioners may sell these bonds at not less than par, and devote the proceeds to the payment for the work as it progresses and to the payment of the interest on said bonds for the three years next following the date of issue, and in the payment of other expenses of the enlargement of the established levee or drainage district provided for in this act. The proceeds from such bonds shall be for the exclusive use of the levee or drainage district specified on their face, and shall be applied for the purposes herebefore expressed, and said bonds shall be numbered by the board of drainage commissioners and recorded in the drainage record, which record shall set out specifically the lands embraced in the area added to the established levee or drainage district on which the tax has not been paid in full, which land is to be assessed as hereafter provided. If any installment of principal or interest represented by the said bonds shall not be paid at the time and in the manner when the same shall become due and payable, and such default shall continue for a period of six months, the holder or holders of such bond or bonds upon which default has been made, have a right of action against said drainage district or the board of drainage commissioners of said district, wherein the court may issue a writ of mandamus against the said drainage district, its officers, including the tax collector and treasurer, directing the levying of a tax or special assessment on the lands in the area added to the established drainage district as herein provided, and the collection of same, in such sum as may be necessary to meet any unpaid installments of principal and interest and costs of action; and such other remedies are hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond or bonds in default as may be authorized by law; and the right of action is hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond upon which default has been made authorizing them to institute suit against any officer on his official bond for failure to perform any duty imposed by the provisions of this act. The official bonds of the tax collector and county treasurer shall be liable for the faithful performance of the duties herein assigned them. Such bonds may be increased by the board of county commissioners.

SEC. 26. Where the court has confirmed an assessment for the construction of any public levee, ditch, or drain, and such an assessment has been modified by the court of superior jurisdiction, but for some unforeseen cause it cannot be collected, the board of drainage commissioners shall have power to change or modify the assessment as originally confirmed to conform to the judgment of the court of superior jurisdiction and to cover any deficit that may have been caused by the order of said court or unforeseen occurrence. The said relevy shall be made for the additional sum required in the same ratio on the lands benefited as the original assessment was made. If any person, or any number of persons, claiming to have title to any tract or tracts of land subject to assessment or drainage tax under the provisions of this chapter shall fail to pay any annual assessment levied against such lands, and the sheriff or tax collector shall be compelled to sell such lands under the law for the purpose of making such collection, the net proceeds of such sale shall be paid to the county treasurer, to be held by him and disbursed for the purpose of paying the current assessment and future annual assessments so far as the said proceeds may be sufficient. When the fund in the custody of the treasurer shall be exhausted in the payment of annual assessments against such lands, or there shall not be a sufficient sum to pay the next annual assessment, the county treasurer shall immediately give written notice to that effect to the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners of the district, and also to the clerk of the Superior Court, whereupon the board of drainage commissioners shall institute an investigation of said tract or tracts of land to determine its market value, and if they shall find that its market value is not equal to all the future annual assessments of principal and interest on the outstanding bonds, they shall proceed, with the approval of the clerk of the Superior Court, to make new assessment rolls on all the remaining lands in the area added to the established levee or drainage district, and increase the sum in sufficient sums to equal the deficit thereby created, and such new assessment rolls shall constitute the future assessment rolls until changed according to law, and shall be certified to the tax collector as herein provided, in lieu of the former assessment rolls. However, the said tract or tracts of land which have been sold by the sheriff or other tax collector shall continue on the assessment roll in the name of the new owner, but reassessed upon the new basis, and the drainage tax collected at the same time and in the same manner as other lands as long as said lands may have sufficient market value out of which to collect the annual drainage tax, and when such lands shall cease to have such value, or shall be abandoned by the person claiming title thereto, the drainage commissioners may omit the same from the assessment roll, with the approval of the clerk of the Superior Court; but the same lands may in the same manner at any time in the future be restored to the assessment rolls. If the funds in the hands of the county treasurer at any time, arising under this section, or in any other manner, shall be greater than is necessary to pay the annual installments of principal and interest, or the annual cost of maintenance of the drainage works, or both, such surplus shall be held by the county treasurer for future disbursement for other purposes as herein provided, or subject to the order of the board of drainage commissioners. If there shall be any impairment or destruction of the drainage works by any unforeseen cause or occurrence not anticipated during the period of construction by the contractor, the said contractor shall nevertheless repair and complete the said works according to the contract and specifications, and shall be liable therefor, and also his sureties on his bond; but if said contractor shall make default, and if there be a failure to collect all resulting damages from such contractor and the sureties on his bond, and it shall thereby be necessary to raise a greater sum of money to complete the drainage works in accordance with the plans, or if for any other unavoidable cause it shall be necessary to raise a greater sum to complete such drainage works, the board of drainage commissioners, having first obtained the approval of the clerk of the Superior Court, shall prepare new assessment rolls upon all the lands in the area added to the established drainage district upon the original basis of classification of benefits, and increase the same in sufficient sum to equal the deficit thereby created, and the same shall constitute the new assessment rolls until changed according to law, and shall be certified to the sheriff or other tax collector as herein provided. If for any of the causes hereinbefore recited in this section, or for any other cause, a sum of money greater than the proceeds of the sale of the drainage bonds shall become necessary to complete the drainage contemplated by this act, and the board of drainage commissioners shall determine that the amount to be raised is greater than can be realized from the collection of one annual assessment upon the lands in the area added to the established drainage district without imposing an undue burden upon said lands, or if it is advisable or necessary to raise the money more expeditiously, then under such conditions additional bonds may be issued in such aggregate sum as may be necessary. The proceedings for the issue of such additional bonds shall be substantially as follows: The board of drainage commissioners shall file their petition with the clerk of the Superior Court, setting forth all the facts which require the expenditure of money and the issue of additional bonds to complete the drainage system in the area added to the said district, which shall be accompanied by the recommendation of the drainage engineer who was one of the original viewers, or some other expert drainage engineer selected by the drainage commissioners. Whereupon the court shall issue a notice to all of the owners of lands within the area added to said drainage district, reciting the substance of the petition, and directing each to appear before the court on a certain day, not later than twenty days after the service upon all the parties, and to show cause, if any they have, why the additional bonds should not be authorized, which notice shall be served personally on each such landowner by reading the same and by leaving a copy, and, if the same cannot be personally served, then it shall be served in the manner authorized by law. Any landowner may file an answer denying any material allegation in the petition or setting forth any valid objection to same before the return day thereof. Upon the day when said notice is returnable, or on such day as to which the same may have been conditioned, the court shall proceed to hear the petition and censures. If the court shall find that the allegations of the petition are true, and that the issue of additional bonds is advisable or necessary, the court shall make an appropriate order authorizing and directing the issue of such additional bonds, fixing the amount of such issue, the date of same, the time when the interest and principal shall be payable, and all other matters necessary and appropriate in the premises. Any landowner may appeal from the order of the clerk of the Superior Court, and in such appeal only the issues raised in the answer shall be considered, and such appeal and the further procedure thereon shall be as prescribed in special proceedings, except as modified in this chapter. After the court shall have ordered the additional issue of bonds, the further procedure as to the assessment roll, the levying and collecting of the drainage taxes, the disbursement of the revenue therefrom for the payment of said bonds and interest thereon, and all further procedure shall be the same as required elsewhere herein. The additional bonds issued shall not exceed twenty-five per cent of the total amount originally issued. The additional issue of bonds shall bear six per cent interest per annum and may be made payable in ten annual installments, or lesser number of annual installments as nearly equal as may be, as recommended by the board of drainage commissioners and approved by the court.

SEC. 28. The provisions of this act shall be liberally construed to encourage the enlargement of drainage districts heretofore, or to be hereafter established, and to promote the leveeing, ditching, draining, and reclamation of wet and overflowed lands. Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to prevent the levying of assessments and the collection of revenue from the land in the area added to the established drainage districts for the maintenance and repair of drainage works of the entire drainage district, after same is enlarged; but no assessment shall be made or levied on the lands in the area added to said established drainage district to pay any part of the principal or interest on bonds issued for and in behalf of the drainage district to which said lands are added, nor shall any revenue derived from the lands so added be so applied. The collection of the assessments shall not be defeated, where the proper notices have been given, by reason of any defect in the proceedings occurring prior to the order of court confirming the final report of the viewers; but such order or orders shall be conclusive and final that all prior proceedings were regular and according to law, unless they were appealed from. If on appeal the court shall deem it just and proper to release any person or to modify his assessment or liability, it shall in no manner affect the rights and legality of any person other than the appellant, and the failure to appeal from the order of the court within the time specified shall be a waiver of any illegality in the proceedings, and the remedies provided for in this act shall exclude all other remedies. Procedure under this act may be ex parte or adversary. Any engineer, viewer, superintendent of construction, or other person appointed under this act may be removed by the court, upon petition, for corruption, negligence of duties, or other good and satisfactory cause shown.

After the classification of the land and the ratio of the assessments of the different classes to be made thereon has been made, formulated, and tabulated, the drainage commission shall ascertain, as near as may be, the total cost of the improvement, including damages awarded to be paid to the owners of the land, all costs and incidental expenses, and an amount sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of maintaining the improvement for a period of three years after the completion of the drainage construction, which shall be the amount to be borne and paid by the lands benefited.

SEC. 12. The drainage commission shall prepare, in duplicate, an assessment roll, giving thereon the names of the owners of the land benefited, so far as can be ascertained from the public records; a brief description of the several tracts assessed, and the amount of the assessment against each tract of land, the number of acres of land on which assessment is made; and there shall be appended an order directing the sheriff or tax collector to collect the said assessments; and amounts of said assessment roll and order shall be signed by the chairman and the secretary of the drainage commission, and the said assessment shall thereupon have the force and effect of a judgment as in the case of State and county taxes, and shall constitute a lien, second only to State and county taxes, upon the lands assessed for the payment of said benefits, and shall be collected in the same manner and by the same officers as the State and county taxes are collected, except the same shall be due and payable from date of assessment roll being delivered to the officer collecting taxes, for collection. Any landowner having lands assessed in the district and not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may, within thirty days after publication of said notice, pay the treasurer the full amount of his assessments and have his land released therefrom. Neglect to pay the same to the treasurer within the said time shall be deemed as consenting to the issuing of said bonds, and in consideration of the right to pay his assessments he thereby waives his right to any defense against collection of said assessment because of any irregularity, illegality, or defect prior to that time, except in case of an appeal, as hereinbefore provided, which is not affected by this waiver. This assessment shall constitute the first paramount lien, second only to State and county taxes, upon the lands assessed for the payment of said bonds and interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner, by the same officer, as the State and county taxes are collected. AN ACT TO EMPOWER THE COMMISSIONERS OF CLEVELAND COUNTY TO PURCHASE DREDGING MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT FOR THE USE OF DRAINAGE DISTRICTS IN SAID COUNTY.

Preamble: streams clogged and obstructed.

Whereas numerous streams, both large and small, throughout Cleveland County have become clogged and obstructed by sand and other debris that the lowlands adjacent thereto are frequently flooded and have become so wet and soggy that they are no longer tillable or even fit for pasturing, and the vast quantity of stagnant waters and cesspools that prevail throughout these lowlands have become a serious menace to the lives and health of the people of the county; and whereas relief can only come from a proper dredging or ditching of the channels of said streams; and whereas the cost of a complete dredging outfit and equipments is too great to be borne by any small dredging district; and whereas the reclaiming of said lands for agricultural purposes would materially increase the value of the taxable property of the county and the drainage of said lowlands would greatly improve the health condition of said county: therefore, receive by the contemplated improvements, and shall also take into consideration the benefit to the health that the drainage will aid and promote. That land benefited shall be separated into classes in the discretion of the commission. The holdings of any one landowner need not necessarily be all in one class, but the number of acres in each class shall be ascertained, though the boundary need not be marked on the ground or shown on any map. The total number of acres owned by one person in each class and the total number of acres benefited shall be determined. The total number of acres of each class in the entire creek districts shall be estimated as nearly as practical and presented in tabulated form. The scale of the classification of the several classes of land returned by the commission or found by them to be benefited and the ratio that each class shall bear to the other or others shall be fixed and determined in the discretion of the commission. This shall form the basis of the benefits to the lands. That after said commission has fixed the benefits to the lands, then they shall give notice at the courthouse door in the city of Charlotte, Mecklenburg County, and by posting notices at five points along the sides of creeks to be drained, appointing a day on which said board of commissioners will meet at the courthouse in the city of Charlotte, Mecklenburg County, to hear any and all complaints of the landowners of the classifications made against said lands, which said notice shall give ten days time or notice of said meeting, and shall serve personal notice on all resident landowners and be published for ten days in some daily newspaper in said county for nonresidents. The notice to be signed by the chairman of the commission, setting forth the creek or portion thereof to be drained, clearly and definitely, the limits of the boundaries of the land proposed to be drained, or that is drained, requiring the person to appear at a certain time before the commission and make any objection, if he sees fit to do so, at which time the said commission will sit as a body to hear and determine all complaints as may be filed with it, and shall have the right to hear any and all evidence introduced and offered in said matter, and determine the proper classification against the said complainants, and fix the classification against all the lands within the radius mentioned and set forth in section two of this act; and the said commission shall have the power and authority to issue subpoenas for witnesses and hear their evidence; and any party aggrieved by or dissatisfied with said classification or other matters before said said court shall have the right, and the same is hereby given them, to demand that the Clerk of the Superior Court of Mecklenburg County appoint a jury, and he is hereby required to appoint and have a jury of three competent and disinterested freeholders, who shall go upon and classify the lands of the party or parties aggrieved, and classify the lands as set out in this act that has been or is to be drained in accordance with the provisions of this act.

After the classification of the land as herein required has been made, formulated, and tabulated by the commission or jury, the said commission shall prepare an assessment roll, giving a description of all the land ascertained to be benefited, setting out the acreage, classification, and the names of the various owners. In preparing this assessment roll the board shall take into consideration the total cost of the improvement, including the damages awarded and to be paid to the owners of land, and all incidental expenses, and the total amount shall be apportioned among the various landowners, according to the classification heretofore adopted, to the extent of benefits found to be received by such lands: Provided , that no landowner shall be required to pay damages in excess of the benefits accruing to his lands by reason of such drainage. After the expiration of the time fixed to pay the special assessment as provided in this section, the drainage commission may issue improvement bonds covering all of the assessments, except such as the owners have elected to pay, which bonds shall be of corresponding amounts and known as "Mecklenburg Drainage Bonds," shall comprise ten equal series; each series shall consist of a like number of bonds, and shall bear interest not to exceed six per cent per annum, and shall be sold for not less than par; and shall be signed by the chairman and attested by the secretary of the Mecklenburg Drainage Commission; and shall contain such recitals as may be necessary to show that they are chargeable to particular property; and may be sold at either public or private sale; and the interest upon the said bonds shall be payable annually, and each installment of interest shall be represented by corresponding coupons; the respective series of the said bonds shall be payable annually, and the last series thereof shall be payable not exceeding ten years from the date of their issue; the proceeds collected by the county treasurer shall be held for the drainage commission. When the tax roll levy is prepared, sufficient special assessment of taxes on each parcel of land covered by said bonds to pay the annual installment of the principal and interest on the amount of such special assessments then unpaid shall be included in the tax levy or roll, as a special tax on said property, and thereafter this tax shall be treated in all respects as any other tax, to be collected in the same manner and constitute a lien on the property affected, and in every respect the same as other taxes. The first installment of the principal, with interest, shall mature at the expiration of one year from the date of issue, and one installment, with interest, each succeeding year for nine additional years. This assessment shall constitute the first and paramount lien, second only to State and county taxes, upon the lands assessed for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner, by the same officers, as the State and county taxes are collected. SEC. 2. That in the event the board of county commissioners of Madison County do not issue bonds, as it is in their discretion to do, as specified in method one of section one, or do not avail themselves of State aid as provided for in method two of section one of this act, or do not avail themselves of either one of the three first methods mentioned in section one, to raise the funds to build and improve a system of public roads and highways for Madison County, as provided in section one of this act, on or before the first Monday in May, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, then the highway commission hereinafter created is authorized and empowered to file a petition with the county commissioners,

In the event that the majority of the legal or qualified votes cast shall be for bond issue at any election herein provided for, after the result has been declared and recorded as aforesaid, or in the event the board should issue bonds under either method mentioned in section one of this act, the said board of county commissioners shall issue such bonds from time to time as requested so to do by the highway commission of Madison County hereinafter created. In the event the board of county commissioners shall avail themselves of any State aid, then, and in that event, the bonds to be issued under this act shall be of such denominations and shall be payable at such time and place and shall bear such rate of interest as may be prescribed by the act authorizing such State aid.
