6 The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

7 Section 1. G.S. 15A-1342(a) reads as rewritten:

8 "(a) Period. – The court may place a convicted offender on probation for a 9 maximum of five years. The court may place a defendant as to whom prosecution has 10 been deferred on probation for a maximum of two years. The probation remains 11 conditional and subject to revocation during the period of probation imposed, unless 12 terminated as provided in subsection (b) or G.S. 15A-1341(c).

13 The court with the consent of the defendant may extend the period of probation 14 beyond five years (i) for the purpose of allowing the defendant to complete a program of 15 restitution, or (ii) to allow the defendant to continue medical or psychiatric treatment 16 ordered as a condition of the probation. The period of extension shall not exceed three 17 years beyond the original period of probation. The special extension authorized herein
18 may be ordered only in the last six months of the probation term. Any probationary 19 judgment form provided to a defendant on supervised probation shall state that 20 probation may be extended pursuant to this subsection."

21 Sec. 2. G.S. 15A-1351(a) reads as rewritten:

22 "(a) The judge may sentence a defendant convicted of an offense for which the 23 maximum penalty does not exceed 10 years to special probation. Under a sentence of 1 special probation, the court may suspend the term of imprisonment and place the 2 defendant on probation as provided in Article 82, Probation, and in addition require that 3 the defendant submit to a period or periods of imprisonment in the custody of the 4 Department of Correction or a designated local confinement or treatment facility at 5 whatever time or intervals within the period of probation, consecutive or 6 nonconsecutive, the court determines. In addition to any other conditions of probation 7 which the court may impose, the court shall impose, when imposing a period or periods

8 of imprisonment as a condition of special probation, the condition that the defendant 9 obey the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Correction governing conduct of 10 inmates, and this condition shall apply to the defendant whether or not the court 11 imposes it as a part of the written order. If imprisonment is for continuous periods, the 12 confinement may be in the custody of either the Department of Correction or a local 13 confinement facility. Noncontinuous periods of imprisonment under special probation 14 may only be served in a designated local confinement or treatment facility. The total of 15 all periods of confinement imposed as an incident of special probation, but not including 16 an activated suspended sentence, may not exceed six months or one fourth the 17 maximum penalty allowed by law for the offense, whichever is less, and no 18 confinement other than an activated suspended sentence may be required beyond two 19 years of conviction. In imposing a sentence of special probation, the judge may credit 20 any time spent committed or confined, as a result of the charge, to either the suspended 21 sentence or to the imprisonment required for special probation. The period of 22 probation, including the period of imprisonment required for special probation, may not 23 exceed five ~~years—years,~~ except as provided by G.S. 15A-1342(a). The court may 24 revoke, modify, or terminate special probation as otherwise provided for probationary 25 sentences."

26           Sec. 3. This act becomes effective March 1, 1994, and applies to persons 27 placed on probation on or after that date.
