SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 107*

Sponsors: Senators Plyler, Martin of Guilford, Plexico; and Smith.

Referred to: Rules and Operation of the Senate.

February 10, 1993

1 A JOINT RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH
2 COMMISSION TO CONTINUE ITS STUDY OF FIRE AND OCCUPATIONAL
3 SAFETY ISSUES.

4 Whereas, the 1991 LRC Study Committee on Fire and Occupational Safety at 5 Commercial and Industrial Facilities was established in response to the industrial fire at 6 the Imperial Foods plant and for the purpose of determining the status of occupational 7 safety in public and private sector workplaces in North Carolina; and

8 Whereas, the 1991 Study Committee heard testimony regarding workplace
9 safety hazards and violations, as well as testimony of effective workplace safety
10 practices and programs; and

11 Whereas, in response to the information it received, the Committee
12 recommended 14 bills for consideration by the 1991 General Assembly, Regular 13 Session 1992, 11 of which were enacted; and

14 Whereas, although the Committee accomplished much of its initial task, the 15 Committee finds that there is still work to be done, including monitoring the 16 effectiveness of recently enacted legislation, in order to ensure the establishment and 17 maintenance of a safe work environment for citizens of the State;

18 Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring:

19 Section 1. The Legislative Research Commission is authorized to continue its 20 study of fire and occupational safety at commercial, industrial, and State operated
21 facilities and worksites. The Commission is further authorized to prepare an interim 22 report of its study, and to make final recommendations, including recommendations to 23 the 1993 General Assembly, Regular Session 1994.

24 Sec. 2. This resolution is effective upon ratification.
